

The Education Act

Your questions answered.

Is your supply chain ethical?

We know the importance of an ethical supply chain so you can be reassured that here at Monkhouse, we can offer a product range that is produced ethically with our main supplier's overseas factories being members of Sedex. This means you can feel confident that the factories that will supply your uniform are audited to a high ethical standard.

You can find more about our supplier factory ethical accreditations here: <https://www.monkhouse.com/pg/512/Supplier-Policies-and-Factory-Accreditations>

Do you offer sustainable products?

Yes, our main supplier has a wide range of eco products that incorporate ethically sourced and recycled materials. Our sales team are here to advise you on what eco products we can offer!

How convenient and simple can you make uniform shopping for our parents?

Our stores and website make shopping for uniform simple and easy for parents to get everything they need in a one-stop-shop. On top of our supply channels, we're always in-touch with parents through our Monkhouse Newsletter – full of offers and discounts to help keep the cost of uniform and accessories to a minimum.

Do your products ensure value for money?

Service and sustainability are a huge part of our offering which comes hand in hand with our passion for providing quality and fit for purpose uniform & sportswear. Durability is key to keeping the cost of uniform as low as possible and you can be confident that the quality of our product range does just that.

Why should we recommend buying generic uniform from Monkhouse?

Our focus is supplying practical, comfortable uniform and school sportswear, and while our suppliers are constantly investing in innovations in eco and sustainable fabrics, our focus remains the same all year round.

This means we avoid falling into the fast fashion trend that many high-street brands do, and can concentrate on maintaining consistent product ranges that address the needs of all our schools and their students.

And finally...

What's important to remember is that Monkhouse is here to represent your school values and community – it's something we're extremely passionate about. You can be reassured that we'll be here to listen to the needs of your parents and students in order to provide them with the best service.
